GEMS OF WISDOM

– Wise thoughts for healthier, more successful and happier life –

(Short description of the book)

The book Diamonds of wisdom is a result of a many-year scientific work, in which the author through the written word wants to help the readers find out the reasons of and the solutions for overcoming the increasing selfishness, acquisitiveness, hypocrisy, insincerity, envy, wrath and hate between people, which as mental poisons destroy love and happiness in interpersonal relations. This book is a quality and educative handbook for every family with young children, so that the parents will be able using truths of wisdom to educate them while they are still at a very young age on how to avoid mishaps and negative consequences of the influence of the excessive ego and the devil's destructive suggestions, which they may inflict to themselves and the other people as well. If you take a look at this world from the aspect of a higher level of awareness, you can see a lot of absurds and illogicalities in the interpersonal relations influenced by the demonic (destructive and negative) higher powers, which lead the mankind into an accelerated process of self-destruction. Generally speaking, we are all witnesses that the world is congested by a degenerate system of human values, which results in ever smaller percentage of richer and richer people and ever bigger percentage of poorer and poorer people, where the omnipresent evil, hate, selfishness, egoism, homicides and suicides reign sovereign, while love and humanitarianism are less and less present and are in an increasing process of extinction. It is a very sad fact that beautiful women are not with the top-quality men in their friendly or marital relations, and also the fact that top-quality men are not the most successful, richest men at the highest social (political or corporate) positions, and are not married to top-quality (beautiful and highly moral) women.

When we or our beloved are seriously shaken by some big calamity or serious disease, we become aware of how much we haven't appreciated our lives and health, how much we want to stay alive and how much we have to give and create, how injust we have been to our closest people, how much we have been unreasonably nervous about some trifles, how greedy we have been for material things, and how ungrateful and blind we have been about our own worth and what we have, instead of being happy for having all that.

In these bad times of disordered system of human values and increasing alienation, hate and evil, and less love and happiness, most of the people are hungry for information and techniques for achieving better health and success, and bigger joy and longer-lasting happiness in their lives. These people are trying to satisfy that hunger through reading various kinds of books and attending all kinds of trainings, courses and lectures. Exactly for this reason I have written this book – a scientific work conceived as a manual for the whole lifetime and intended to all the present and future generations, which is abundant in truths, principles and ideas on how to become healthier, more successful and happier in your mandate of existence. This work is so designed and composed, so that not to burden the reader with either the terminology used or its volume, and has been written in a colloquial, simple language understandable to every reader of any intelectual level. This is a universal handbook intended for a wider circle of readers interested in knowing the truth, and the right steps in establishing quality interpersonal relations. It is a scientific work and an original piece of literature of cultural and edicational character, and has a universal importance, cosmic dimensions and timeless truths useful to all the present and future generations in the world. This work is not only a piece of scientific literature, but it is also a handbook for every person of any age and, for the difference from the books, novels and poetry which are only transient pleasures, is abundant in life truths, practical pieces of advice and ideas intended to help the readers make their lives be longer, more successful, happier and with more meaning. You can easily see that the book is very unique and original, since the lots of facts, answers and truths contained in it are a result of the author's many-year analytical research and practical life experience, as well as of the intuitively acquired information from the universal intelligence. This book is intended to a wider circle of readers interested in getting acquainted with the truth and the right steps in the process establishing quality interpersonal relations. In this book, the author gives as a gift to all the current and future readers a multitude of right pieces of advice, ideas and solutions for achieving better-quality interpersonal relations and bigger joy in everyday life. Through universal truths originating from the real life, the readers of this book will have the opportunity to become aware of various illusions and prejudices in the interpersonal relations, which most often, at unconscious level, make an obstacle to the people in achieving happier and longer life. This book would be of bigger practical value if it becomes available (through buying, giving as a present, lending) to a bigger as possible number of readers who will read, underdstand and implement in their lives the truths presented and, what is more important – will convey these truths to other people, in the first place to their children or grandchildren, preferably while they are still at a very young age. The book is a reminiscence in the quest for knowledge, happiness and everything else we have lost, but becomes increasingly important as the years pass by. The book is abundant in wise timeless truths, useful ideas and pieces of advice which are read and re-read the entire lifetime, and that's why it is recommendable to be present in as many homes as possible throughout the world, as a useful handbook for all the generations.

The purpose of this book is to satisfy the needs and the tastes even of the most fastidious readers. The author's idea is with this book to help the readers icrease their knowledge and help them in resolving their problems brought about by the unpredictable time and life. His goal is, through the universal truths from the real life, given in this book, to help the readers become able of recognizing all the illusions and prejudices in the interpersonal relations, which most often, at unconscious level, impede the people in achieving happier and loger life.

The largest portion of the truths given in this book are in fact information obtained from the universal intelligence, most often in the morning hours, in an intuitive way, in the form of different thoughts emerging one after another, later linked in chains and then assembled in a mosaic the author has been composing for years after that. Since nothing is by chance (senseless and without its own reason) in the Universe, neither the information donated by the Universe nor the book itself came accidentally into existence. The author decided to write down these truths obtained as a flood of pieces of mental information, so that they would not go away irretrievably, for in a short time after they had appeared they disappeared like soap bubbles. The interesting thing in it was that every morning when the author was writing down those pieces of information (truths) from the Universe, just after they had appeared, new ones appeared also on the same topic, and this process lasted for hours. Since these timeless truths had been obtained as a gift from the Universe, the author felt that his duty was to transfer them as a present to as many readers as possible in this beautiful world, through this book. After many years of patient work, the author managed to compose the mosaic of truths, ideas, pieces of wisdom and pieces of advice useful for the success and happiness of all the readers born or who will be born on this planet. The author's motive and inspiration for making his many-year piece of intellectual work originates from his complete belief and experience that this literary creation will be in fact the entrance of his spirit into the dimensions of eternity. The book is a mosaic made of a wide spectrum of truths, ideas and pieces of advice, which are in fact the speech of the author's spirit and soul. This original and universal literary work does not burden the reader, since it has been written in a simple, colloquial language understandable to every spiritual level of readers.

All of you, the readers, who will have the honour and the privilege to read this scientific, philosophic and psychologic book of practical use, will be able not only to increase your level of awareness of the cognized timeless truths, practical pieces of advice and pieces of wisdom, but also to become more successful, healthier and happier, with a longer mandate for your existence. This many-year scientific piece of work, as a practically useful and educative book, will surely spur a large interest and receive positive critics not only from the domestic, but also from the foreign public. Those who will completely and with full concentration understand the essence and the truthfulness of this book, are going to experience an exciting journey to the higher dimensions of awareness.

The biggest wish of the author of this book full of timeless, universal and educative truths, is the book to be printed in as many as possible world languages, so that as many as possible readers throughout the world will be able to acquire it only at a symbolic price (which will be just enough for covering the printing costs) and have it in their homes as a permanent handbook for themselves and the next generations in the family. For that goal, the author's intention is the money earned from the copies sold to be invested in a new cycle of printing, so that after several cycles there would be enough finance for translating the book into English language and then in other world languages, all that with the end goal as many people in the world as possible to have the opportunity to read it. This way we – the author, who has invested huge efforts in writing the book, and you – the readers who have bought the book, will together contribute for spreading the positive energy, love, happiness and, in the first place – scientific truths, among as many as possible people throughout the world.

The author's biggest reward for the invested many-year labour is as bigger as possible number of readers to get the chance to read this book and, above all – to help them make their lives more successful, prettier and happier. The author's most important benefit from this original book is not the glory or the material profit, but the fact that the book is the ticket which is going to take him, i.e. his spirit and soul, into eternity. There is no bigger satisfaction and happiness for the soul than the notion that you create something very useful to all the next generations, and the creation which is going to take you to the eternity would finally come out better than you have imagined initially. It is same as the person has never existed, if he/she doesn't have own creations and deeds. The rare genius minds, because of their highly developed intuition i.e. direct link with the universal intelligence (the total knowledge and all the existing information in the Universe) have the credit for all the scientific discoveries, inventions and technological achievements which make peoples' lives simpler and more joyful. Only the rare wise minds with high level of spiritual awareness have the privilege, through the intuitive information acquired and the constructive analyses done from the aspect of the general perception of the peoples' majority, to get close to the absolute truths which have always been and will always be inaccessible to the average human mind. The wise geniuses are not selfish or with excessive ego, and that's why they gladly give the cognized timeless truths as a present to the other people and the next generations, through their spoken or written word and above all through their creations useful to the mankind, thus accomplishing their exceptional role and purpose of existence on this planet. The cunning devil never sleeps and in all possible ways suggestively destructively influences the minds of people, all with the ultimate goal of directly influencing or destroying as many human lives on the planet as possible through his obedient servants (evil people and Satanists). So be careful what books you read, what music you listen to and most importantly what people you hang out with or are in an intimate relationship with.

It would be a very sad thing if the author's highly educative books are read and understood only by a small number of very intelligent readers, for in such case his main goal – through timelless and educative truths to enlighten the majority of the people in the world and thus save it of the self-destruction desired by the devil.

The book "DIAMONDS OF WISDOM" is a wonderful gift which can be given for or without some special occasion, and it is desirable to be present in every home as an useful handbook for all the generations.

GEMS OF WISDOM

I was born in Skopje in 1965 in a happy unforgettable and unique time, in a happy family filled with great love from my wonderful parents and in a beautiful country called Yugoslavia under the leadership of the greatest world statesman of all time - the president and marshal Josip Broz Tito. I spent my youth in a socialist society where there were no major material differences where most people were much happier than now, where love in friendships, love and marriage was much more prevalent than in the current capitalist so-called demo (n) cratic society. I graduated from high school and then from the Faculty of Electrical Engineering in Skopje, and I served my military service in the Yugoslav People's Army in Belgrade. As an electrical engineer I worked in managerial positions in the Power Supply Company of Macedonia. But my true affinity along with talent, gift and passion for psychology never ceased to exist and for this reasons I decided to share my whole life experience with the help of my above-average intelligence and intuition through the written word in many of my literary works. This book is full of wise thoughts and instructive advice, which are the result of my life experience, much more, as intuitively received information from the universe, every morning awakening. My ultimate goal is to transfer my spirit and soul to eternity, through written wise and timeless to give readers the opportunity to be healthier, more successful, happier and more self-sufficient in their genetically predestined term of existence (life).

Time passes but the truth stays forever
